CIVILIAN DEFENSE

The prime job of this agency, as we see it, is to prepare and organize the residents of Windham against the physical attack from the enemy. Our problem seems to be one of communication, we need, of course, to distribute to the public various different bits of educational matter such as what to do in an air raid, how to prepare your home for a blackout and other information on civilian protection. We may need to develop a concrete series of evacuation plans, which will co-ordinate all the agencies that are concerned in the operation of anything of that nature.

Mrs. Clinton D. Morse of Londonderry, very ably conducted the air raid wardens' school, and at the present time there are 21 Qualified Air Raid Wardens in town. Get to know the warden in your sector, he is your friend. Under the proposed plans the air raid alarm will be given by the air raid warden with a siren attached to his car.

The Civilian Defense Committee wishes to extend to the various town officers and agencies their heartfelt thanks for the cooperation received in this emergency.

Merton A. Webber,
Chairman

Vice Chairman

Carlton H. Connolly
Chief Air Raid Warden

On Tuesday afternoon, June 10, 1941 graduation exercises were held in the Searles Chapel for nine pupils who had completed the prescribed elementary program of studies. Appropriate exercises preceded the awarding of certificates to the following:

Howard Hemeon	Russell Lamson
Richard Hemeon	Byron Otis
Adolph Jarosky	Janice Scott

Joel Scroggins

During the summer the usual cleaning and minor repairs were done on the school property. The classroom floors of both schools were treated and the basement floors of the Center School were painted. Repairs to the slate roof at the Searles School were completed. The Windham School Board has endeavored to do everything possible to maintain the school property in excellent condition.

With the opening of school in September Miss Eleanor Whitney of Meriden, N. H., was hired to teach in the primary room of the Center School. Miss Whitney is a graduate of Keene Teachers' College. Miss Muriel Nash was transferred to the intermediate room with Miss Emma Cashion remaining at the Searles School.

We have continued to improve upon the essential reading materials in the schools. Needed workbooks and texts were purchased for that purpose. A new third grade geography was installed as were additional dictionaries for all grades. New histories were furnished grades four and five to replace a series which had been in use for some time.

The social science offering in the seventh grade was changed to separate courses of geography and history, the necessary books being obtained. Next year, with the installation of new histories and a course in civics to take the place of the present eighth grade social science set-up, the Windham Schools will have a fine up-to-date series of history texts. During the past four years it has been possible; through the sympathetic cooperation of the school board, to improve upon and adequately install many new and greatly needed books and instructional materials.

The budget total, as proposed for 1942-1943, shows a slight increase of $441.64 over the figure voted last year. Most items of the suggested budget remain the same. The increase may be directly traced to two sources - elementary and high school tuitions - both being greater than for the current year. The number of Windham pupils who will attend secondary schools in September will be larger due to the size of the present eighth grade.

In conclusion may I call your attention to two sentences which ended my report of the previous year. The thought expressed therein was important at that time and it is increasingly important today in the light of present world conditions. "We have taught and we must teach with greater emphasis, the blessings and privileges bestowed upon the individual by our democratic form of government. At the same time we must not let anyone forget that these liberties involve and require the highest degree of individual and group responsibility and sacrifice for the common good."

As I complete my duties as your superintendent I wish to point out that any progress which has been accomplished, by my efforts, during my term would have been impossible had I not received the whole-hearted support and cooperation of the Windham School Board. It has been very gratifying to me to have enjoyed such assistance.

To the members of the school board, teachers, pupils, parents, and citizens may I say that your many acts of kindness will always cause me to look back with pleasure upon the few years I have been associated with you.

Respectfully submitted,

Edward I. Erickson
